Adaptive Tactical Rotation ETF

Ticker: RHRX

The Adaptive Tactical Rotation ETF seeks capital appreciation. The ETF is designed to position to asset classes, sectors or factors that can provide enhanced performance versus the broad equity markets. The ETF utilizes ETFs to capture investment performance. The Tactical Rotation strategy seeks to identify strength in the market by turning “ON” those asset classes, sectors or factors that are determined the most likely to provide enhanced performance. If markets weaken severely, the portfolio can seek risk protection by allocating a significant amount of the portfolio to cash or fixed income.

ABOUT ADAPTIVE INVESTMENTS

Adaptive Investments (Adaptive) provides adaptive, risk-adjusted investment solutions for financial advisors seeking to better position their clients for changing market conditions. Through an adaptive-correlation-based suite of ETFs, Adaptive targets relative returns in up markets while seeking to decrease risk during turbulent periods. Adaptive performs exhaustive research and testing to select industry-leading tactical strategies and employ their processes in the Adaptive platform. Founded in 2015, Adaptive Investments is the investment advisor to the Adaptive ETFs. Adaptive Investments is located in Alpharetta, GA.

INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY:

Adaptive Investments was founded on the principle that the 1950s era buy-and-hold tenet of the Modern Portfolio Theory no longer serves investors in today's turbulent markets. Adaptive adheres to a theory of adaptive correlation, which offers a more agile approach to reallocating assets with shifting markets; aiming to deliver to investors both relative returns in up markets and protection against losses in down markets.
